LINCOLN -- The Nebraska Court of Appeals will travel to North Platte May 17, 18, and 19, 2006, to hear cases argued by local attorneys. Judges Richard D. Sievers, Frankie J. Moore, and William B. Cassel will hear arguments in North Platte at the U.S. District Court Courtroom, 200 East 3rd Street. Arguments will commence May 17 at 1:00 p.m., and at 9:00 a.m. on May 18 and 19.

The Nebraska Court of Appeals is composed of six judges comprising two panels of three judges. The composition of the panels changes periodically.

The primary courtroom used by the Court of Appeals is located in the State Capitol building in Lincoln, but for the convenience of the participants, the Court occasionally travels to other Nebraska cities to hear appeals. This month, one panel will hear cases in North Platte and the other in Lincoln.
